MEN OF RUSH MAKE CLEANING

Four Exhibitors From This County
Win Prizes in 65 of 93
Classes.

AT INDIANA APPLE SHOW

R. V. Fielding, Chris King, John M.
Beaver & Son And T. Y. Newby
Are Whole Show.

It would have been far better for the first apple exhibition which is being held in Tomlinson hall in Indianapolis this week to have been named the Rush county apple show rather than the Indiana apple show. This conclusion is reached after glancing over a partial list of the first awards as given in the Indianapolis Star:

It reveals the fact that the names of Rush county men appear more often than do those of any other exhibitors. There were prizes awarded in ninety-three different classes yesterday and in all but twenty-eight of them Rush county exhibitors figured in the awards. In other words they won in sixty-five or ninety-three classes.

The four Rush county exhibitors who upheld the name of Rush county as an apple growing county are Chris King, living south of the city; R. V. Fielding, of the firm of Reed & Fielding of Glenwood; T. Y. Newby of Carthage and John M. Beaver & Son, living north of Glenwood.

R. V. Fielding leads the list of Rush county exhibitors, by winning forty four prizes as follows: Twelve firsts, twenty two seconds and ten thirds. Chris King comes with twenty-six prizes divided as follows: twenty firsts, four seconds and two thirds. Mr. King won more firsts than Mr. Fielding. John M. Beaver & Son are third in the list of Rush county exhibitors with seventeen prizes as follows: five firsts, six seconds and six thirds. Mr. Newby is last with eleven prizes as follows: one first, four seconds and six thirds. It is estimated that Rush county exhibitors took about two-fifths of the individual prizes awarded.

R. V. Fielding of the firm of Reed & Fielding, lives on his partner's farm near Glenwood and Mr. Reed resides in Glenwood on the Rush county side. Mr. Reed has been a horticulturist for years and has a wide experience in fruit growing, especially in the raising of apples.

John M. Beaver & Son live a few miles north of Glenwood. They have been interested in apple growing for several years and have a beautiful orchard.

Chris King, living south of the city, has always been known as Rush county's best apple grower. His product has been long renowned and

ESTIMATES FALL TAXES

County Treasurer Believes $200,000
Was Collected in This Installment.

Although County Treasurer William McBride is unable to tell the exact amount of money which was collected in the fall installment of taxes he has estimated the collections at about two hundred thousand dollars. Two hundred and twenty-six thousand dollars was collected in the spring installment, but it is usually the case that the spring installment is heavier than the fall installment. The office force is now busy preparing the accounts and getting the books in shape after the rush which closed Monday night.

BURIED AT FORMER HOME to Charlottesville.

The remains of Josiah Winslow, who died at his home in Kansas were brought to Charlottesville yesterday, where burial took place. Mr. Winslow was about 80 years old and was a former resident of Charlottesville. He moved to Kansas several years ago. He was well known by many of the older residents of the county. A widow and several children survive.

PUGH COMPANY IS HIGHLY PLEASING

Organization of Entertainers Headed by Local Man Scores Huge Success in Columbus.

The Jesse Pugh Concert Company appeared at the Central Christian church Tuesday night as the first number on the lecture course to be given there this winter, says the Columbus Republican. The company composed of Jesse Pugh, character impersonator and soloist; Miss Irene Gertrude Briggs, soprano, and Miss Mabel Kellogg, violinist, is an exceptionally strong organization, each being especially gifted. Mr. Pugh is at his best as an entertainer and impersonationist although he has a pleasing voice and his solos were very well received. Miss Briggs is a sweet singer whose songs were happily selected and whose work was given warm approval. Miss Kellogg is an exceptionally fine violinist, her numbers being eagerly awaited and heartily applauded. The entire entertainment was one of the best heard here in a long time.

GAME LAW COMES IN TOMORROW

Local Hunters Preparing to Get Busy on First Day—Several Gone on Trips.

MANY LICENSES TAKEN OUT

Local nimrods will hie themselves to the fields and woods of Rush and adjoining counties tomorrow in quest of game as it is then that the game law comes in. That many will be in search of game tomorrow is evidenced by the fact that eighteen hunting licenses were sold in the clerk's office today, which makes a total of forty-eight which have been sold this month. It is expected that three hundred licenses will be sold before the month runs its course as almost that number was disposed of last year during November.

The advent of the chilly days, when "the frost is on the pumpkin and the foddler's in the shock" has brought to the minds of most sportsmen that the hunting season is at hand. In many homes and dens in the last few days guns have been taken from the hooks where they have accumulated the dust of the summer months, and hunting coats, caps, and boots have been dragged from their hiding place for usage again. There are many quail this season and the hunters with their dogs at their heels will journey out early in the morning. Several hunting parties have been arranged and will go to distant points to hunt.

WERE MARRIED WHILE ON VISIT

Miss Ora Blanch Richey and James Spilman of Milroy Met in Indianapolis.

SURPRISED THEIR FRIENDS

Bride Supposed by Her Parents to be Visiting a Sister in Fort Worth.
Texas.

Miss Ora Blanch Richey and James Edgar Spilman, both of Milroy surprised their friends and relatives and were married yesterday in Indianapolis. Miss Richey was supposed by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Richey to be visiting a sister in Fort Worth, Texas, and Mr. Spilman had gone to Indianapolis on the pretense of buying goods for his store in Milroy.

Mr. Spilman took his father, James H. Spilman into his confidence and they met Miss Richey at the train. They went direct to the county clerk's office and secured the license. The wedding ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. W. Baldridge, who accompanied them to the clerk's office.

Miss Richey went to Fort Worth, Texas, over a year ago and expected to return about Christmas. The wedding had been planned for that date. Arrangements for an earlier wedding were made by mail, and no time was lost after Miss Richey arrived in Indianapolis. The bride is a sister of Harry Richey, the famous one-armed automobile race driver. She is well known and is a popular young woman and her many friends in Milroy were surprised to hear of the marriage.

Mr. Spilman is in business in Milroy, where they will reside. The newly married couple returned to Milroy this morning.

BOARD UPHOLDS ROAD CONTRACTORS

Commissioners Allow Claims in Full to Wilk & Company and Engineer of Offutt Highway.

TAXPAYERS ASK INSPECTION

By allowing today the claim of Wilk & Company of this city, contractors who built the Ollie Offutt road in Posey township, the county commissioners indicated that they accepted the road as built and that they refused to accept the opinion of certain taxpayers on the road who filed written objections before the board Monday. The taxpayers in the written objections complained that the local contracting company had not built the road according to plans and specifications and asked that the commissioners go over the road with the objecting taxpayers. Tuesday the commissioners inspected the road and made known their findings today by allowing the full claim of the contractors and engineer and accepting the final report of the viewers and the engineer.

The report of the viewers in the Gardner ditch was filed and submitted today and the cause continued until one week from Saturday. The hearing on the Mull road was continued until December fourth.

NO PROPOSAL MADE TO I. & C.

President Henry Says Promoters of Traction Line From Richmond
Have Not Conferred With Him.

WOULD CONNECT AT LIBERTY

Carrying Adams Express on I. & C.
Will Greatly Benefit Cities and Towns on Line.

The promoters of the Richmond & Eastern Indiana traction line, which, it is proposed, will be built from Richmond to Cincinnati by way of Liberty, are purported to have said that they would stop their line at Liberty and not extend it on to Cincinnati if the Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction Company would extend their lines to Cincinnati by way of Liberty. The promoters of the proposed line believe that the I. & C. would be willing to make the extension that way so as to get the business which the line would bring for Cincinnati and other points, both east and west.

Charles L. Henry, president of the I. & C., said this morning that the promoters of the Richmond & Eastern Indiana Company had made no proposal to the officials of the local line and for that reason he was not prepared to say what effect it would have on the extension of the I. & C. Mr. Henry said that he had heard of the line which may be built from Richmond from business men of Brookville while he was there.

Mr. Henry declined to say whether or not the proposal of the promoters of the R. & E. I., should it be made to the I. & C., would have any effect on the I. & C. extension. It is argued by the promoters of the "air line" that much business could be obtained by the I. & C. if the I. & C. were extended through Liberty and make connection with the R. & E. I.

The carrying of Adams express by the Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction Company will probably be started within the next two weeks, according to the announcement which Mr. Henry made today. Just as soon as rates and schedules are filed by the Adams Company the service will be begun. Plans have been pending for some time, but they were just fully arranged a few days ago.

It is expected that the innovation started by the I. & C. and the express company will prove a great benefit to the four principal cities on the I. & C., Shelbyville, Greensburg, Connersville and Rushville as well as to the smaller towns along the route of the line.

At present Rushville and Shelbyville has an Adams express service, but Connersville and Greensburg has none. The service in this city and Shelbyville is inefficient in that the express is carried over a local division of the Pennsylvania. Under the new system express from St. Louis or from eastern cities will be transferred in Indianapolis from through trains directly to the I. & C. instead of sending it to the northern or the southern extremity of the Pennsylvania for another transfer before it arrives here. The same thing will apply to Shelbyville while Connersville and Greensburg will be given a better express service than they have ever had.

On the other hand the arrangement is very beneficial to the Adams Express Company in that it will give it four ways of entering this city and Shelbyville as the Pennsylvania will continue to handle express. The new service will be helpful to the small towns along the I. & C. as it will give them benefits which they never have had.

RETURNS AFTER A SUCCESSFUL SEASON

John F. Boyd Brings Jersey Herd to Winter Quarters After Many Triumphs in Cattle Shows.

IT IS ADMIRER BY CATTLEMEN

John F. Boyd, proprietor of the Riverside Stock farm in Jersey City, has returned home with his herd of Jerseys and now has them in winter quarters at his farm. His return home marks the close of one of the most successful show seasons which he ever enjoyed with his herd. There was no herd in the west or middle west which could attract the prizes that the local herd could.

Mr. Boyd reaped reward from many of the State fairs and then went to Milwaukee, where he showed his prize herd at the International Dairy Cattle Show. There the local herd was the center of the admiring glances of cattlemen from all parts of the world. Mr. Boyd's triumph was so great that dispatches were sent all over the United States concerning his truly remarkable herd. But the climax came when his herd was admired and commented on at the National Dairy Cattle Show at Chicago, which is the closing one of the season. There Mr. Boyd was interviewed by editors of cattle papers and other publications and the history of the growth of his remarkable herd was heralded all over the United States.

DOCTOR'S AUTO IS HIT BY CAR

Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Elliott of Glenwood Narrowly Escape Death at Lewisville Crossing.

HIS AUTO ENGINE GOES DEAD

Machine is Struck Squarely in Middle by Interurban and Overturned—
Occupants Underneath.

Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Elliott of Glenwood somewhat miraculously escaped death or possibly fatal or serious injury in an accident in Lewisville yesterday, when the automobile in which they were riding was hit by a fast Dayton limited car on the Terre Haute, Indianapolis & Eastern traction line. As it was they came out of the difficulty with a few scratches and bruises and Mrs. Elliott suffered greatly from the shock.

The car struck the machine in which Dr. and Mrs. Elliott rode squarely in the middle and persons who saw the accident fully believed that the two occupants of the car would be picked up dead. The traction car was in charge of Ezra Thompson, motorman, and Dan Chapman, conductor.

Dr. Elliott was on his way to see a patient at Yorktown and had stopped to inquire the way. When he started on he was forced to pass a wagon that had just crossed the car tracks. The car gave no warning after entering the east limits of the town and the doctor was unable to see it until he was on the track. Bystanders warned him and in his effort to get his machine out of the way he killed the engine.

The traction car hit the machine broadside, turning it completely over, with the occupants underneath. Several persons soon succeeded in turning the machine right side up and found the doctor and his wife uninjured outside of a few scratches and nervousness as the result of the shock. The machine was damaged considerably, but was able to continue on its own power.

The crossing there is not considered a dangerous one, but the limited cars have been passing through Lewisville without ringing the gong or blowing the whistle after entering the limits.

QUESTION 9. Verse 7. "Should money given to build churches be regarded as an investment, and may we expect any financial return?"

ANSWER. No person ought to give money to build churches, or for any other religious purpose, with a mercenary motive, but while this is so, money given for this purpose is an investment. It is an investment in humanity, in the spread of that which is good, in the welfare of the people, but, as a matter of fact, it is a financial investment as well, from which we may expect not only financial returns, but returns of everything which is desirable and which tends to make life worth living. Giving to God's cause, not only helps the cause, but, helps the giver, and every dollar given brings its own reward, even in dollars. Jesus said, "Give and it shall be given unto you, good measure, pressed down, shaken together, and running over, shall men give into your bosom."

Paul compared giving to sowing, and, while he was urging them to make their offerings liberal, he said, "He which soweth sparingly, shall reap also sparingly, and he which soweth bountifully, shall reap also bountifully."

The Old Testament urges liberal giving to the cause of God, and generally holds out the inducement of material prosperity. Solomon said, "Honor the Lord with thy substance, and with the first fruits of thine increase, so shall thy barns be filled with plenty, and thy presses shall burst out with new wine."

PAYS GOOD TO FATTEN POULTRY

A. G. Phillips of Purdue University experiment Station Give Result of Experience.

DEMONSTRATION FRUITFUL

Forty-One Fowls Increase in Weight And Pay Profit, Exclusive of Labor, 70 Per Cent.

Poultry owners have often asked the question, "Does it pay to fatten poultry for sale on the market?" but it remained for the Purdue experiment station, and more particularly the Purdue poultry farm, under the direction of A. G. Phillips, to demonstrate that there really is a profit to be obtained by such a process.

Mr. Phillips recently purchased forty-one birds from a local farmer, paying for them at the rate of 11 cents per pound. They were in poor condition, weighing only 127.4 pounds. The cost of fattening there to a total weight of 178.5 pounds was $2.77, and Mr. Phillips, at the close of the experiment, secured ready purchasers for the fowls at a price of sixteen cents per pound.

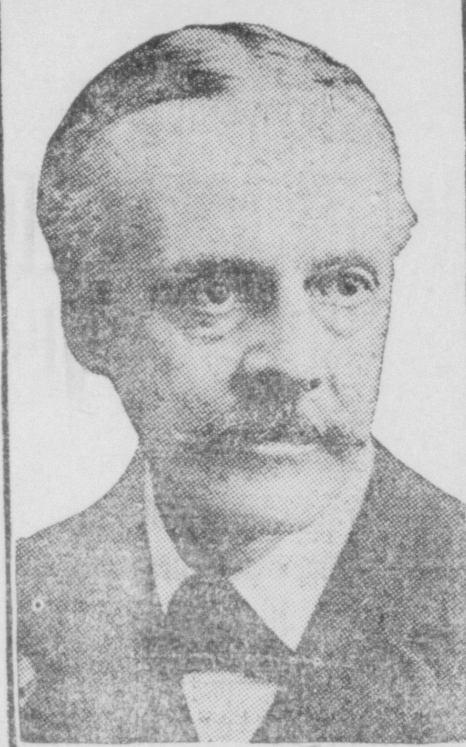

In other words, the increase of 41 pounds in weight, or nearly one pound to each bird, cost $2.77, or less than seven cents per pound. The per cent, in weight was approximately thirty per cent, and the per cent, of profit on the birds, over the cost of feed, seventy per cent, not inclusive of the labor expended, however.

It can readily be seen that the fattening of birds for the retail market would result in the creation of good prices for the chickens, and eliminating the profit usually made by the middleman in the handling of fowls, the farmers would find a source of splendid profit in the experiment. Mr. Phillips is confident that the experiment carried on at Purdue is indicative of general results to be obtained on any poultry farm in the country, and suggest that in this one profit-making discovery might lie the solution of the present worries of the country over the high cost of living.

The great bulk of the so-called potato flour that is sold at retail in the groceries of Germany for cooking purposes is simply finely ground and sifted potato starch. There is, however, a flour obtained by grinding and boiling dried potatoes that is a comparatively new product.

LINCOLN MONUMENT ENGAGES PRESIDENT

Taft Takes Part In Ceremonies at Frankfort.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 9.—His visit centering about the presentation to the state of a statue of Abraham Lincoln, President Taft spent Wednesday in Frankfort, the state capital of Kentucky. The statue was the gift of Mr. James Breckinridge Speed, a son of Lincoln's most intimate friend, Joshua Speed, and nephew of Lincoln's attorney general. James Speed was himself a Union soldier and came out of the war penniless. As his intermediary to make the presentation address he chose Henry Watterson, a Confederate soldier, who as a young man directed his pen as well as his sword against Lincoln in bitter vindictive-ness.

The statue is of bronze, heroic size, presenting the figure of Lincoln standing, his head bent slightly in meditation. It is placed in the center of the capitol rotunda.

The presence of Mr. Watterson and Mr. Speed curiously emphasized the point in Mr. Taft's address that to the soul of Lincoln, because of his charity and love more than to anything else is due the increasing friendliness of the two sections of the country. Both Mr. Speed and Mr. Watterson are ardent lovers of Lincoln. Mr. Speed because of association, Mr. Watterson perhaps in spite of association. In a typical southern way Mr. Watterson devoted much of his address to a defense and laudation of Lincoln's antecedents.

This city turned out one of the most enthusiastic crowds to greet President Taft that he has seen in his entire 15,000 miles of journeying. The president arrived here at 6 o'clock in the evening and took just time enough at the hotel for a change of clothes, and went directly to the armory for a speech on peace.

SHE FOOLED THEM

While These Boys Were Fighting For Girl She Married Another.

Sterling, Ill., Nov. 9.—While two of her lovers were fighting with bare fists to decide who should have the right to ask her hand in marriage, Lena Amsden eloped with John Miller.

Fred James and William Ludwig are the two young men who fought in vain for the love of the girl who is now Mrs. Miller. Ludwig was whipped. When he was knocked down for the fifth time he struck his head on a jagged rock and fractured his skull. His condition is critical.

Ludwig and James had been callers for many months at Miss Amsden's home. Her father favored both young men, as they are ambitious and each has saved some money. It was he who jestingly suggested the fight as a means to prove who was best man and therefore entitled to his daughter's hand in marriage. He urged the young men to settle it quickly, as he feared his daughter was becoming infatuated with Miller. Miller was not popular with Papa Amsden.

The fistful duel was arranged. Both men were in earnest and fought desperately. When James returned to the Amsden home to announce his victory he was shown a note announcing Miss Amsden's flight with Miller.

LUNCH COUNTER IS NEXT TARGET

State Board of Health Announces

Campaign Will be Waged For Clean Free Lunches.

SALOON KEEPERS MUST OBEY

Must Come Up to Same Requirements

Expected of Restaurants and Hotel Keepers.

The free lunch counters of saloons in Indiana are the next targets in the "clean-up" fight being waged by the State Board of Health. H. E. Barnard, chemist of the board, he will instruct his deputies to compel compliance with the sanitary food laws hereafter, as well as the pure food laws, by every saloon keeper in the state.

No more will bartenders be permitted to wipe off the slime of a dozen previous portions of "dog and slaw" on their sleeves and tender the fork for the thirteenth helping. Mr. Barnard said hereafter, free lunch counters in saloons must be safeguarded from flies with glass cases and the utensils, used in the distribution of food, must be cleansed by methods which will minimize the chances of bacteria spread.

Soda fountains also are to be watched closely by the state chemist. Glasses, dishes and spoons used in serving soda water and other fountain concoctions, will be washed in an entirely different way from the "cold water splash," if the proprietors desire to escape prosecution, the state official declared.

Heretofore the investigation of saloons by State Board of Health officials has been confined strictly to obviating the use of adulterated or fraudulently labeled beverages. The free lunch counter now must come up to the same requirements expected of restaurant-keepers, cafe proprietors and hotel managers.

"There is, so far as I know, not a saloon keeper in Indianapolis who is protecting his free lunch counter," said Mr. Barnard, discussing the coming order from the board. "The patrons dig in with forks, hundreds of them a day. The same forks are used and the germs travel at will from one mouth to another. That heterogeneous methods of serving must be stopped. If it is not done in a legal way hereafter the proprietors will have to take the consequences."

"The soda fountains are just as amenable to the enforcement of the restaurant law as are the saloons. We have been studying the soda fountain situation for some time and have decided to act to that in both classes of places such methods will be used for cleaning utensils as will eradicate the danger of spreading infection from one mouth to another."

Both situations are covered fully by the pure food law as well as the sanitary food law, according to Mr. Barnard. The apparent neglect of the saloon problem by the chemist has been necessary, he said, because of the localization of all of the forces of the department during the last few years on the problem of adulterated foods. That problem, Mr. Barnard said, is practically settled in Indiana.

The chemist bases his rights to proceed against saloon keepers on the proposition that the law regards all drinks as food.

The only "saving grace" to be found in the liquor-pure-food situation, Mr. Barnard said, is the fact that some of the whiskey sold at Indiana bars contains so much alcohol that it sterilizes the utensils and glasses which it touches. That is not true of beer, however, he believes, nor is it of the other liquors which form a large portion of the saloon's activity.

 POSSESSES PARCHMENT  DEED WRITTEN IN 1825. *****

James M. Smith, of Straughn, has a sheepskin parchment deed for 160 acres of Dudley township land which is dated April 20, 1825, and is signed by President John Quincy Adams.

Particularly the Ladies.

Not only pleasant and refreshing to the taste, but gently cleansing and sweetening to the system, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is particularly adapted to ladies and children, and beneficial in all cases in which a wholesome, strengthening and effective laxative should be used. It is perfectly safe at all times and dispels colds, headaches and the pains caused by indigestion and constipation so promptly and effectively that it is the one perfect family laxative which gives satisfaction to all and is recommended by millions of families who have used it and who have personal knowledge of its excellence.

Its wonderful popularity, however, has led unscrupulous dealers to offer imitations which are unsatisfactory. Therefore, when buying, to get its beneficial effects, always note the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package of the genuine Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna.

For sale by all leading druggists. Price 50 cents per bottle.

The deed was issued at Brookville, which town then harbored the central land office for all of eastern Indiana. G. W. Graham was the commissioner in charge then.

The land cost $1.25 an acre, and it is now worth $175 per acre. It was entered by Samuel Charles, who lived on the farm many years and did most of the clearing.

Charles was a "bachelor of long standing," and had amassed quite a large fortune by dint of effort. He kept his gold in his little hut, and few knew the man personally. He had almost lost his sense of hearing, and his only pleasure was to view his gold. Several years before his death someone pried the lock from his door and carried away his fortune, taking advantage of his affliction to work in his presence. From the time his money was stolen the bachelor gradually declined in health and was finally adjudged insane.

We give you three reasons why we recommend and endorse ZEMO and ZEMO SOAP for all skin and scalp eruptions.

1st. They are clean, scientific preparations that give universal satisfaction and are pleasant and agreeable to use at all times.

2d. They are not experimenting, but are proven cures for every form of skin or scalp affections whether on infants or grown persons.

This is the Stove Polish YOU Should Use

It's different from others because more care is taken in the making and the materials used are of higher grade.

Black Silk Stove Polish

Makes a brilliant, silky polish that does not rub off or dust off, and the shine lasts four times as long as ordinary stove polish. Used on sample stoves and sold by hardware dealers.

Use it on your cook stove, your parlor stove or your gas range. If you don't find it the best stove polish you ever used, your dealer is authorized to refund your money. Insist on Black Silk Stove Polish. Made in liquid or paste—one quality.

its appearance, attractiveness and local improvements. The following suggestions are made:

Clean streets are an exceedingly valuable advertising asset. Let the main business streets be paved if possible, otherwise surfaced and provided with drains. Cross walks should be provided and kept clean.

Sidewalks, preferably of cement, should be maintained in good repair, should be uniform construction and of uniform breadth and height above street level.

Light the business streets. Well lighted streets are probably the most valuable of all city improvements from the advertising standpoint. St. Paul's way of light, and similar lighting improvements on down-town business streets have advertised the city far and wide.

Wreck dilapidated buildings on business streets if possible. Even a billboard is more attractive than a tumble-down structure among modern and attractive vacant business property may be hidden from view by billboards. Campaign for a good business "front." A neat and attractive business section is an invitation to every visitor and means much when strangers talk of the city and discuss it with their friends.

The local hotel and the city's hotel accommodations are probably the most valuable of all its advertising assets. A good hotel builds up the city's reputation as nothing else can, and brings business as nothing else can. It means that every traveling man will say when such a city is mentioned, "It is a fine town. It has a splendid hotel." A good hotel will bring traveling men and business men caught on the road into the city for the week-end.

Neither the city or town can grow faster than the business from its local and tributary population permits. A larger town means the encouragement of the growth of adjacent rural population. The average city or town must inevitably do business far beyond its own corporate limits, and no town can grow larger than the volume of business it handles will permit. More population means that there must be more business to sustain the population. For this reason, and many other reasons are obvious, the first important duty of the local business men is to consider the possibility of securing a larger rural population on which to draw for increased business.

If the business men of the town can secure from 100 farmer-customers the names of only five farmer friends or relatives in the "old home districts" it means 500 agriculturists with whom direct advertising work may be started. Each 100 farmers added to the tributary rural population means $100,000 a year added to the trade of the city or town. Such work may be done at the cost of only a little effort and a few postage stamps.

FREE HOSPITAL FOR STUDENTS

Purdue Trustees Adopt New Plan.

THE FIRST IN THE COUNTRY

Slight Assessment Upon the Students Will Create a Fund Out of Which Free Hospital Service Will Be Provided in Event of Illness—New Plan Suggested by President Stone Met With the Favor of the Trustees.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 9.—All Purdue university students, beginning next year, when sick or injured will receive hospital treatment free, as a result of action taken by the board of trustees of Purdue university. The new plan was suggested to the trustees by President Stone. The plan is to assess each student of the university $1 a year, the money thus derived to be used as a hospital fund.

It is believed Purdue is the first university in the United States to adopt such a plan. The money will be in the hands of a treasurer, and whenever a student becomes sick he will be sent to the hospital without further expense to himself.

The trustees also voted unanimously to accept the bequest of $100,000 made to Purdue by William C. Smith. They accepted the provisions of his will requiring the university to furnish ten free scholarships each year to school pupils in Warren county. The committee on agriculture was instructed to take up the question of how to use the money, and will report at the next meeting of the board as to which way it is to be spent.

SINGULAR ACCIDENT

Body of Man Struck by Train Acts as Deadly Catapult.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Nov. 9.—Hit by the flying body of John Fowler, a farmer, W. C. Elliott, station agent on the Nickel Plate at Tippecanoe, died from his injuries. He saw Fowler was in danger of a passenger train which does not stop at the station, and ran to pull him off the track. The locomotive beat him to it and sent Fowler's lifeless body like a catapult against him. Elliott was seventy-five years old and had been station agent there for twenty-seven years.

MADE DEATH SURE

Woman Drank Poison and Then Hanged Herself.

Kentland, Ind., Nov. 9.—The body of Mrs. Solomon Spangler, wife of a retired farmer, was found hanging from a joist in the basement of her home. Mrs. Spangler bought a bottle of formaldehyde, and on the way home stopped at an undertaking establishment and inquired as to the virulence of the poison. She drank the formaldehyde, fastened a rope around her neck and stepped off a chair.

Old Horse Expert Killed.

Indianapolis, Nov. 9.—While responding to an alarm hose wagon No. 16 was struck by a streetcar and Lieutenant Thomas S. Smith, colored, was instantly killed, and Captain Thomas Howard, colored, was seriously injured. Smith, who was driving the team, was hurled into the air and thrown in front of the streetcar, which passed over him. For a quarter of a century "Old Tom," as Smith was known, had been the city's best horse expert.

Found Tangible Evidence.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Nov. 9.—After Detective Sergeant Pappert had arrested Roy Smith on a charge of larceny, a search of the man's room disclosed one hen, a turkey and enough corn to feed the fowls for several days, all secreted beneath the mattress of Smith's bed. The police believe that in the arrest of Smith they have landed the man who has been raiding hen roosts in the suburbs of the city for several weeks.

Forgot the Main Chance.

Hammond, Ind., Nov. 9.—Mrs. A. B. Canfield has Bobby Burns to thank that her house was not robbed. The place was entered by a ragged stranger, who gathered up all the family plate and jewelry, ready to escape. He sank into a library chair and was chuckling over Burns's poems when Mrs. Canfield quietly returned and surprised him. The burglar leaped through the library window and escaped.

Says He Shot in Self-Defense.

Clinton, Ind., Nov. 9.—Burt Hardy, aged thirty-one, was shot and instantly killed by Cal Morgan, who surrendered and says he shot in self-defense after Hardy had pulled a revolver on him. The trouble is said to have started when several women told Hardy Morgan had insulted them.

Rejects Insanity Dodge.

Evansville, Ind., Nov. 9.—That he will not plead insanity was the statement of William Wilson, city detective, in jail here, who shot and killed William Walters and wounded Robert Finley Sunday. Wilson declared he would plead self-defense.

ARTHUR PUE GORMAN

Son of Late Senator Turned Down by Voters of Maryland.

Baltimore, Nov. 9.—Phillip Lee Goldsborough, the Republican candidate for governor, was elected by 2,700 majority, but both his running mates on the ticket are defeated. This is regarded as a slap at "too much Gorman," Arthur P. Gorman, son of the late senator, having been Goldsborough's Democratic opponent.

THREE MEN HELD ON CHARGE OF MURDER

Affidavits Based Upon Stories Told By Women.

Bedford, Ind., Nov. 9.—As a result of the confessions of Lois Sutton and Della Hamilton, who were arrested shortly after the man was found in a dying condition in the road, affidavits charging the murder of James Mitchell have been filed against Ollie Younger, Charles Mitchell and Joseph Fultz.

The state charges that Fultz struck Mitchell in the back of the head with a club when Charles Mitchell confronted him with a revolver, and Ollie Younger accepted a part of the $87 which was taken from the victim after fatal injuries were inflicted. The two women are members of a traveling band of horse traders of which Younger, Mitchell and Fultz were also members.

Judge Must Pay $15,000 For Tweakling Colleague's Nose.

Kansas City, Nov. 9.—Judge Thomas in the circuit court here instructed the jury to bring in a verdict for the plaintiff in the case of former County Judge George J. Dodd, suing former County Judge C. E. Moss for $15,000 damages because of an alleged tweaking of the Dodd nose at the hand of Moss. The incident was said to have taken place in open court three years ago.

Cousins in Deadly Quarrel.

Richmond, Ind., Nov. 9.—Because he believed his cousin, Tony Lapenna, had made statements reflecting on his character, Michael Lapenna, twenty-eight years old, shot and killed Tony at the Elliott Reid fence factory, in West Richmond. The cousins came from Italy together a few years ago, and both had been employed in the factory.

A ROCKEFELLER TUNNEL.

Oil Magnate Won't Have Delivery Men on His Grounds.

John D. Rockefeller has begun the work of digging a tunnel from his home on top of Kykuit hill, near Tarrytown, N. Y., to the road near his stable to be used by drivers of all delivery wagons. The tunnel will be about 1,000 feet long and will cost many thousands of dollars, but Mr. Rockefeller has decided that hereafter no delivery wagon will drive up the roadway to his home.

The tunnel may be large enough for wagons to drive in, or there may be an escalator to carry heavy boxes, etc., up to the house.

CHILDREN INJURED

Ordinary Cathartics and Pills and Harsh Physic Cause Distressing Complaints.

You cannot be over-careful in the selection of medicine for children. Only the very greatest bowel medicine should ever be given, except in emergency cases. Ordinary pills, cathartics and purgatives are apt to do more harm than good. They may cause griping, nausea and other distressing after-effects that are frequently health-destroying.

We personally recommend and guarantee Rexall Orderlies as the safest and most dependable remedy, which we know, for constipation and associate bowel disorders. We have such absolute faith in the virtues of this remedy that we sell it on our guarantee of money back in every instance where it fails to give entire satisfaction, and we urge all in need of such medicine to try it at our risk.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten just like candy, are particularly prompt and agreeable in action, may be taken at any time, day or night; do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, griping, excessive looseness, or other undesirable effects. They have a very mild but positive action upon the organs with which they come in contact, apparently acting as a regulative tonic upon the relaxed muscular coat of the bowels, thus overcoming weakness, and aiding to restore the bowels to more vigorous healthy activity.

Rexall Orderlies commonly completely relieve constipation, except of course when of a surgical character. They also tend to overcome the necessity of constantly taking laxatives to keep the bowels in normal condition. Three sizes of packages, 10 cents, 25 cents, and 50 cents. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Rushville only at our store,—The Rexall Store, Lytle's Drug Store.

Town Development

More than one hundred cities of the United States have successfully launched city advertising campaigns, successfully proving that the kinds of advertising and the advertising methods which have been successfully applied in purely commercial affairs, may be adapted with splendid results to cities and towns.

Winnipeg is spending $17,000 a year, Spokane is spending between $40,000 and $50,000 a year, Tacoma is spending $10,000 a year, Portland $4,000 per month, while Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and hundreds of other cities are likewise spending much money in the same way.

Begin at home with your advertising. No municipal advertising campaign can succeed until it has the united support of practical business men. Some one must be responsible for the collection of necessary funds, even though a moderate and economical campaign is decided upon. Some one must be made responsible for the results, otherwise we have a desultory campaign which will be unsatisfactory and which, perhaps, will not display the exercise of the best business judgment.

If a campaign is attempted it is suggested that the best and most practical man the municipality can bring forward be made chairman of the general committee, in charge of the work, or be officially designated by some similar arrangement, as the manager and director of the work. He should have the assistance, co-operation and energetic support at all times of a small but carefully selected committee or organization of business men.

Make your city advertise itself. The best beginning that a municipality can make, in considering an advertising campaign, is to look well to

SOCIETY NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Goodin will celebrate their crystal wedding anniversary at their home at the corner of Cherry and Seventh streets Sunday.

Announcement has been made of the wedding of Omer S. Peelle of the Lewisville National Road Traveller, and Miss Clara Nelle Conner, at the home of her parents in Lewisville, Nov. 16.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Narvell of near Carthage announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Effie Florence, to Virgil N. McClarnon, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. McClarnon of near Greenfield. The wedding will take place November 16, at the home of the bride-to-be's sister, Mrs. Jessie Kiser, at Carthage.

Invitations were issued today for the wedding of Miss Marguerite Neutzenhelzer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Neutzenhelzer of North Morgan street, and Roy E. Harrold, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Harrold of North Julian street, which will take place at the Neutzenhelzer home Wednesday evening, November twenty-second at seven-thirty o'clock.

Miss Mary Sears, daughter of Mrs. Berancy Sears of Buena Vista avenue, and Dr. Joseph F. Lankford of Indianapolis, son of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Lankford of Morgan county, were married at the bride's home this afternoon at two-thirty o'clock by the Rev. John B. Meacham of the First Presbyterian church. The ceremony was a very simple one and was attended by the intimate relatives and a few friends. Dr. and Mrs. Lankford will be at home in Indianapolis.

Another secret wedding leaked out today when it was learned that Ray Miller of near Manilla and Miss Vada Watts of Shelbyville were married at Waldron by the Rev. F. A. Guthrie on August 22. Mr. Miller is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Miller of near Manilla, prominent people of that vicinity, and Miss Watts is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Watts of Shelbyville. The marriage became known yesterday when a sister of Mr. Miller happened to run across the marriage certificate, which had been hidden in some secluded part of the house.

The nutritive value of milk as compared with buttermilk is not near so great as some appear to think. It is about as twenty to eighteen. You get about as many energy units out of a pint and a quarter of buttermilk as you do out of one pint of sweet milk. Besides, the bacteria of typhoid tend to die out in buttermilk because of its acidity.

AMUSEMENTS

The Princess offers for tonight an Essanay film featuring Mr. Anderson. It is entitled "A Western Girl's Sacrifice," and is a drama of intense interest. "The Baron and the Villian Foiled" is a Biograph comedy. "The Battle of Trafalgar" will be produced here soon.

The Portola will have a special feature attraction tonight, showing three reels of pictures. "The Modern Dianas" is a side-splitting Edison comedy and is said to be a very clever picture. "The Hermit" is a western picture, telling a strong story and is full of dramatic interest. "Foul Play" will be the attraction for Saturday night.

"Heaven has no rage like love to hatred turned, nor hell a fury like a woman scorned," William Congreve has said. This will be truthfully portrayed in a study in the art of dramatic expression by Miss Florence Turner in the Vitagraph film at the Palace tonight. "Betty's Buttons" is an Edison film, introducing William Wadsworth, a new motion picture actor. The special musical program tonight includes J. Walter Wilson with his flute solo, "Cavalliera Rusticana," and Miss Leona Thomas will give a violin solo entitled "Peter Piper." Ralph Harrold and Miss Lenora Thomas will furnish the music at the piano and drums. Miss Thomas will play her violin solo each night the rest of this week.

"Madame Sherry" returns to the English the evening of November 13 for a week's engagement. On its first visit in Indianapolis this sensational successful musical play "turned 'em away" at every performance and on the last evening of the engagement it is said enough people were disappointed at failure to obtain tickets to fill the theater half full again. The musical hit of the show "Every Little Movement," has become as universally known throughout the country as the Merry Widow waltz.

HALF OF CORN CROP IS IN THE PENS NOW

Expected Yield This Year to be the Standard as Far as Quantity and Quality is Concerned.

EARLY PREDICTION VERIFIED

Half the corn crop in the county is probably gathered now, and with reasonably favorable weather the gathering of the remaining half will be a shorter job than that which is done, for the reason that now the grain is in such seasoned and ripened condition that the work can go forward without any other interruption than that which the weather may send.

It may be recalled, says the Connersville News, that a few months ago, when the drouth was at its height and many farmers were discouraged, Hyatt L. Frost, who is a careful observer of crop conditions, gave it as his certain belief, based on a rather exhaustive examination that the corn crop this year would be nearly an average crop, so far as quantity went, and that the indications were that the quality would be in keeping. The correctness of this is very near to an average, both as to quality and quantity. Excellent yields in recent years have caused the farmers to expect excellent crops at all times, it is believed, yet there is much to be pleased with in such a crop as the present one. If favorable weather continues for a week or so practically the whole of the crop will be safely in, and its value, even in this county, would run into figures, which, it is thought, would be amazing.

No one volunteered.
"Then who-all 'll take a job from me, cash wages in advance, to pole up a thousand pounds of grub?"

Curly Parsons and another, Pat Monahan, accepted, and, with his customary speed, Daylight paid them their wages in advance and arranged the purchase of the supplies, though he emptied his sack in doing so. He was leaving the Sourdough, when he suddenly turned back to the bar from the door.

"Got another hunch?" was the query.

"I sure have," he answered. "Flour's sure going to be worth what a man will pay for it this winter up on the Klondike. Who'll lend me some money?"

On the instant a score of the men who had declined to accompany him on the wild-goose chase were crowding about him with proffered gold-sacks.

"How much flour do you want?" asked the Alaska Commercial Company's storekeeper.

"About two ton."

The proffered gold-sacks were not withdrawn, though their owners were guilty of an outrageous burst of merriment.

"What are you going to do with two tons?" the storekeeper demanded.

"I'll tell you all in simple A, B, C and one, two, three." Daylight held up one finger and began checking off. "Hunch number one: a big strike coming in Upper Country. Hunch number two: Carmack's made it. Hunch number three: ain't no hunch at all. It's a cinch. If one and two is right, then flour just has to go sky-high. If I'm riding hunches one and two, I just got to ride this cinch, which is number three. If I'm right, flour 'll balance gold on the scales this winter."

CHAPTER V.

Still men were without faith in the strike. When Daylight, with his heavy outfit of flour, arrived at the mouth of the Klondike, he found the big flat as desolate and tenantless as ever. Down close by the river, Chief Isaac and his Indians were camped beside the frames on which they were drying salmon. Several old-times were also in camp there. Having finished their summer work on Ten Mile Creek, they had come down the Yukon, bound for Circle City. But at Sixty Mile they had learned of the strike, and stopped off to look over the ground. They had just returned to their boat when Daylight landed his flour, and their report was pessimistic. But an hour later, at his own camp, Joe Ladue strode in from Bonanza Creek. He led Daylight away from the camp and men and told him things in confidence.

"She's sure there," he said in conclusion. "I didn't sluice it, or cradle it. I panned it, all in that sack, yesterday, on the rim-rock. I tell you you can shake it out of the grass-roots. And what's on the bed-rock down in the bottom of the creek they ain't no way of tellin'. But she's big, I tell you, big. Keep it quiet, and locate all you can. It's in spots, but I wouldn't be none surprised if some of them claims yielded as high as fifty thousand. The only trouble is that it's spotted."

A month passed by, and Bonanza Creek remained quiet. A sprinkling of men had staked; but most of them, after staking, had gone on down to Forty Mile and Circle City. The few that possessed sufficient faith to remain were busy building log cabins against the coming of winter. Carmack and his Indian relatives were occupied in building a sluice box and getting a head of water. The work was slow, for they had to saw their lumber by hand from the standing forest. But farther down Bonanza were four men who had drifted in from up river, Dan McGilvary, Dave McKay, Dave Edwards, and Harry Waugh. They were a quiet party, neither asking nor giving confidences, and they herded by themselves. But Daylight, who had panned the spotted rim of Carmack's claim and shaken coarse gold from the grass-roots, and who had panned the rim at a hundred other places up and down the length of the creek and found nothing, was curious to know what lay on bed-rock. He had noted the four quiet men sinking a shaft close by the stream, and he had heard their whip-saw going as they made lumber for the sluice boxes. He did not wait for an invitation, but he was present the first day they sluiced. And at the end of five hours' shoveling for one man, he saw them take out thirteen ounces and a half of gold. It was coarse gold, running from pinheads to a twelve-dollar nugget, and it had come from off bed-rock. The first fall snow was flying that day, and the Arctic winter was closing down; but Daylight had no eyes for the bleak-gray sadness of the dying, short-lived summer. He saw his vision coming true, and on the big flat was appeared anew his golden city of the snows. Gold had been found on just above Carmack's Discovery claim. Even Daylight disliked the looks of Eldorado; but, still riding his hunch, he bought a half share in one claim on it for half a sack of flour. A month later he paid eight hundred dollars for the adjoining claim. Three months later, enlarging this block of property, he paid forty thousand for a third claim, and, though it was concealed in the future, he was destined, not long after, to pay one hundred an fifty thousand for a fourth claim on the creek that had been the least liked of all the creeks.

In the meantime, and from the day he washed seven hundred dollars from a single pan, and squatted over it and thought a long thought, he never again touched hand to pick and shovel. As he said to Joe Ladue the night of that wonderful washing:

"Joe, I ain't never going to work hard again. Here's where I begin to use my brains. I'm going to farm gold. Gold will grow gold if you-all have the savvy and can get hold of some for seed. When I seen them seven hundred dollars in the bottom of the pan, I knew I had seed at last."

The hero of the Yukon in the younger days before the Carmack strike, Burning Daylight now became the hero of the strike. The story of his hunch and how he rode it was told up and down the land. Certainly he had ridden it far and away beyond the boldest, for no five of the luckiest held the value in claims that he held. And, furthermore, he was still riding the hunch, and with no diminution of daring.

Back in Dawson, though he remained true to his word and never touched hand to pick and shovel, he worked as hard as ever in his life. He had a thousand irons in the fire, and they kept him busy. Heavy as were his expenses, he won more heavily. He took lays, bought half shares, shared with the men he grub-staked, and made personal locations. Day and night his dogs were ready, and he owned the fastest teams; so that when a stampede to a new discovery was on, it was Burning Daylight, to the fore through the longest, coldest nights till he blazed his stakes next to Discovery. In one way or another (to say nothing of the many worthless creeks) he came into possession of properties on the good creeks, such as Sulphur, Dominion, Excelsis, Silwash, Cristo, Alhambra, and Doolittle. The thousands he poured out flowed back in tens of thousands.

Dawson grew rapidly that winter of 1896. Money poured in on Daylight from the sale of town lots. He promptly invested it where it would gather more. In fact, he played the dangerous game of pyramiding, and no more perilous pyramiding than in a placer camp could be imagined. But he played with his eyes wide open.

Corner lots in desirable locations sold that winter for from ten to thirty thousand dollars. Daylight sent word out over the trails and passes for the newcomers to bring down log-rafts, and, as a result, the summer of 1897 saw his saw mills working day and night, on three shifts, and still he had logs left over with which to build cabins. These cabins, land included, sold at from one to several thousand dollars. Two-story log buildings, in the business part of town, brought him from forty to fifty thousand dollars apiece. These fresh accretions of capital were immediately invested in other ventures. He turned gold over and over, until everything that he touched seemed to turn to gold.

With the summer rush from the Outside came special correspondents for the big newspapers and magazines, and one and all, using unlimited space, they wrote Daylight up; so that, so far as the world was concerned, Daylight loomed the largest figure in Alaska. Of course, after several months, the world became interested in the Spanish War, and forgot all about him; but in the Klondike itself Daylight still remained the most prominent figure.

KNOWS HOW TO PREPARE ROADS

O. E. Hays, Supervisor in Franklin

Township, Henry County, Uses

Some Judgment in Work.

PLOUGHS GRADE OFF FIRST

Widens Road By Scattering Gravel

And Stone Instead of Leaving

In a Pile.

Supervisors and others interested in road improvement ought to take notice of the way O. E. Hays, supervisor of the western district of Franklin township, goes about improving the roads in his district, says the Lewisville Road Traveler. Of course everyone who travels over the highways more or less, should be interested in this subject, and it would pay anyone to visit the west part of this township and see for themselves just how.

Mr. Hays undertakes the improvement of the roads in his district. Most supervisors pile up the gravel in the center of the road in heaps so a horse will not travel it, and consequently one has to drive to the side, which soon wears the road out. Mr. Hays widens his roads like a city street by scattering the gravel evenly over the entire surface from edge to edge. In this way he has widened several narrow roads so rigs can pass without danger of being thrown in the ditch.

Mr. Hays has fixed the Bartlett pike, north of the National road, up in great shape, fine as a city street, and has been working lately on the Ft. Wayne road, which always has been so narrow that the narrowest vehicles could hardly pass.

In making a road Hays uses a plow and ploughs off the brow of the grade, throwing the dirt outbefore the roadbed is filled with gravel.

Only a few days ago, before the Bartlett pike was improved, an accident happened on account of the narrow grade that nearly caused Sam Moore to lose his life. Moore, with a load of wood, attempted to pass another team, and in doing so his wagon upset and he barely missed striking a telephone pole, with wood flying behind him in all directions.

A few days ago several local citizens were talking on the subject of road construction and the condition of our roads. It was pointed out that Rush county had Henry "skinned" on good roads, and anyone acquainted with the facts will say as much. Three years ago it was possible to race three horses abreast on the National road, but today it is almost impossible in most places.

Another important feature in the destruction of roads is the stones that lay here and there. Stones the size of an egg causes horses to stumble, then the wagon hits it and the foundation of a chuck-hole is begun, which grows larger very fast. A good way to remedy this would be to rake the roads and clear them of stones, for if they are buried in the gravel they are bound to work their way to the surface.

Looting the Family Purse

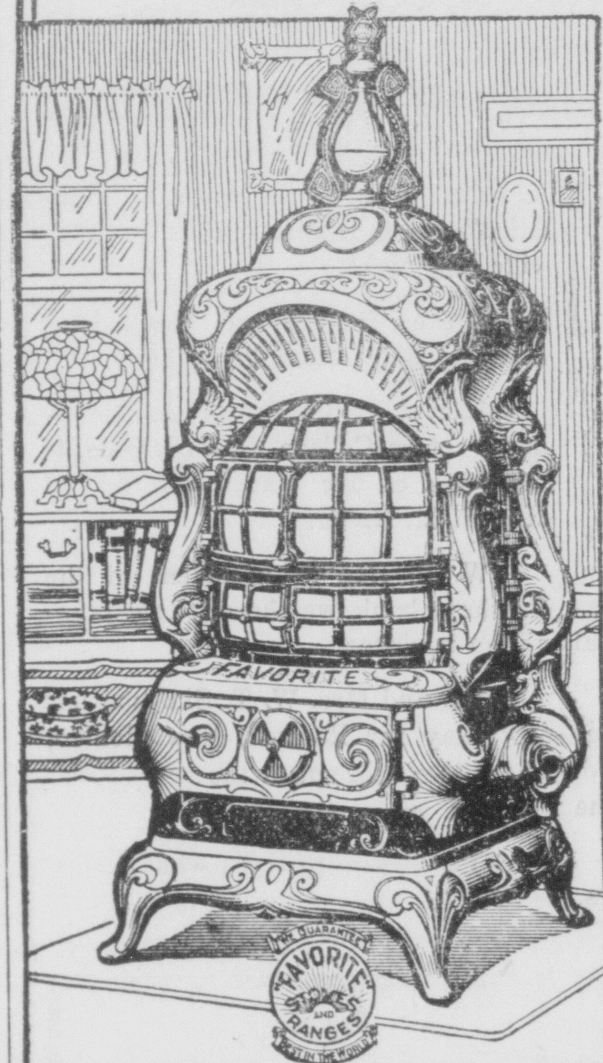

When you once pay the bill for a table or bed, the matter is closed as far as expense is concerned.

But with a stove, the first cost is only a beginning---a trifling amount when you consider the cost of the fuel that stove will consume during its lifetime.

There are a lot of heating stoves that loot the family purse---burn twice as much fuel as a FAVORITE BASE BURNER would require to do the same amount of work.

The Favorite saves one-half on coal bills and throws out more heat. There is no other Base Burner like it, for the features that make it such a wonderful and economical heater are patented.

Don't put up with the wastefulness and extravagance of a cheap stove. Buy a FAVORITE BASE BURNER. It will save you money every day it is in use, and bring such comfort and satisfaction, too.

WAR VETERAN KILLED BY CAR

Mitchell Ham, Age 71, Expires of Injuries Received in Accident at Fairland.

DIES EARLY THIS MORNING

Concussion of Brain is Caused After he is Struck by I. & C. East-bound Traction Car.

Mitchell Ham, a civil war veteran, who was widely known in this and Shelby counties, died this morning at one-thirty o'clock of concussion of the brain which was the outgrowth of injuries which he received when he was hit by an eastbound Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction Company car on a crossing in Fairland, Shelby county yesterday afternoon. Mr. Ham was seventy-one years old.

It was not expected from the first that Mr. Ham would recover. He was rendered unconscious by the blow and never regained consciousness. Mr. Ham was standing on the track and was knocked several feet to one side when the car hit him. His jaw was fractured and he received several other serious injuries about the head which caused concussion of the brain. It was thought from the first that he was injured internally.

After the accident he was carried in an unconscious condition to a nearby store-room, and was there attended by Drs. J. W. Snider and M. M. Wells before being removed to his home, which is not far from the place where the accident occurred.

Mr. Ham was on his way home from a call at the Alexander store when the accident occurred. He had stopped directly on the car track to wait for the passing of a Big Four freight train and did not hear the approach of the traction car. It was in charge of George Sparks as motorman. Mr. Sparks sounded his whistle and when he saw that Mr. Ham did not hear him set the brakes on his car. It stopped within its length of the point where Mr. Ham was struck.

Mr. Sparks was completely unnerved by the accident and was relieved from duty temporarily as soon as his car reached Shelbyville. Mr. Ham had several relatives living in Shelbyville and they were immediately summoned to his bedside.

TURKEYS WILL BE PLENTIFUL

Dry Summer Weather Favorable to Growth of Fowl Popular at This Season.

PRICE LOWER THAN COMMON

Most Every Family May Enjoy Juicy Morsel of White Meat Thanksgiving Day.

There'll be plenty of turkey this year. According to present indications the price will be reasonable and the poorest homes may enjoy a juicy morsel of white meat on Thanksgiving day. In some sections the supply is said to be up to the usual average and in others there is a big increase. The dry weather this summer was favorable for the growth of the fowls and with other foodstuffs high they will be comparatively low.

While the turkey is a national bird, Hoosiers may take special pride in it, as the best stock in the country is raised in this state. The real "turkey belt," which raises seventy per cent of the country's supply, comprises southern Indiana and Illinois and all of Kentucky and Missouri. In point of numbers Kentucky ranks first, but the meat is not as tender and highly flavored as that from the Hoosier and Sucker states.

The hills in the southern part of the state are especially adapted to turkey raising, and they afford plenty of room for the birds to roam around. In the northern part, where the land is intensively cultivated, there is no room for turkeys, as they damage the green crops. The nearest competitor that the regular "belt" has is in the state of Texas. The southern bird is similar, however, and the flavor is not so good because corn is scarcer. Wherever the corn is good turkeys will flourish.

Local dealers are now paying 16 cents for their birds. The price at

The Initiative Referendum and Recall.

Not all of our readers may have a clear idea of what the initiative, referendum and recall really is. The following is a short and plain explanation:

The initiative simply means that the people shall have the right to initiate legislation. This principle might be applied by petition, convention or election. It doesn't provide any popular privilege not now enjoyed where legislators are alive to the demands of the people, but it seeks to make imperative the consideration of popular measures. The referendum is nothing more than popular vote on legislative acts before they become laws. For instance if the council of this city adopted a franchise, under the referendum it would have to be approved by the people before being effective. The recall provides that when a public official is thought indifferent to the welfare of the people, he can be forced to stand for reelection. This sounds attractive, but it invites constant attack on the man in office. Great injustice may be done the officials. Instead of the people deciding whether he is or is not competent he is generally forced into a general election in which the field is against him and his service is overlooked. The initiative, referendum and recall presupposes that men elected by the people can't be trusted to carry out the popular will. And if the idea is carried a little further we reach the conclusion that the people can't be depended upon to elect men who will obey their wishes. All that is promised by these principles, declares the Lafayette Journal, can be secured by the people if they take an interest in affairs and elect men who will represent them. And if the people haven't this much interest we are at a loss to understand how the initiative, referendum and recall would benefit them.

It may be thought that the baseball fans, now that the season is closed, would have some leisure to meditate on the perilous state of the nation. But by the time the autopsies on the last summer's games are completed, there will be the work of the teams on Southern diamonds to be attended to.

Joseph H. Choate says young men should enter only the profession that has a strong attraction for them. But we need something besides baseball players.

Every reception committee along Mr. Taft's route contains some patriot who humbly but confidently presents himself to the presidential eye as worthy to fill Justice Harlan's place.

The Warsaw, Mo., Times says the size of a $10 bill depends on whether you are getting or losing it. If you earned it doing political work, too, it looks ten times as big as if you made it at your regular job.

The advisability of trial engagements is discussed, but this is probably the effort of some young men to get a girl's company without having to buy her an engagement ring.

J. P. Morgan says dissolving the trusts is like unscrambling a scrambled egg. From the considerable admixture of hog, the trusts look more to some people like ham omelette.

Stripes are not to be worn any more by the prisoners at Atlanta federal jail, but we trust that some cheeks will be placed on their further misconduct.

It is going to cost $1,458,929 to run Yale university for the coming year, but if the college produces a winning foot ball team and would let it go on the road a short time, that little sum could be raised.

There are some folks going about with a very much extravagant opinion of themselves and their worth, says an exchange. Comes now a German scientist writer with some facts to humble them. He says: "The intrinsic value of a man or woman weighing 150 pounds, according to his or her constituent elements, is $7.50. This value is represented by the phosphorus, lime, iron, sulphur and albumen in a body. The fat is worth about $2.50; of iron there is hardly enough to make even a small nail an inch long. There is sufficient lime to whitewash a pretty good sized chicken house. The phosphorus would be sufficient to put heads on 2,200 matches, and enough magnesia to make a pretty fireworks. The average human body contains enough albumen for 100 eggs. There is possibly a small teaspoonful of sugar and a pinch of salt."

Often times the most valuable asset in any business is the so called "good will." It is the most intangible kind of a thing. But when you see three people going into one man's store to one who enters the place next door, when both may have the same floor space and equally attractive show windows, you realize that this unsubstantial thing has big cash values.

If a man has $5,000 in bonds, he may draw $250 yearly interest therefrom. If he has $5,000 in a little business, and if he has attended diligently to that business and has average intelligence, he may be drawing $2,000 therefrom annually, very likely more.

If he sold the store and went to work as a clerk for the new proprietor, he might perhaps get $700. to $1,000 a year. After deducting $250 interest which his capital would draw if invested in bonds, the balance of $750 to $1,000 annually might be said to constitute the return from his good will. This is five percent. on $15,000 to $20,000.

What is this intangible good will? Merely the public impression that he is still doing business, that he has an established reputation for fair dealing and alertness.

How is it acquired? In old days a man gained it by the time he got too old to enjoy life, by sitting in his store and waiting for the public to come to him. It was a sure process, but terribly slow.

It is next to impossible to acquire it in that way now, even in a lifetime. The world is too busy. There are too many hustling business men to compete with.

Modern business good will is very largely the creation of advertising. A year's consistent publicity in the home newspaper will do more to create the public impression of which we have spoken, than ten years silent existence without soliciting your share of the trade.

To recur in our illustration, we have known men with $5,000 invested in business to think that they were advertised heavily if they put $300 a year into newspaper publicity work. Yet if that created a good will that added $750 to $1,000 a year to their income, it would be a good trade.

A general impression that you are a wide awake reliable business man, is an asset of tremendous value. A merchant can afford to pay heavily to get it.

EDITORIALETTES.

The modern idea of a piker seems to be one who lives within his income.

And not all people who are not pikers go to jail for it.

Kokomo Tribune has just discovered that there's a man in that town named Martin Beaver and then opines that it could almost twist a wheeze out of the name.

And it's strange that the Kokomo Tribune should discover that anything found any place could be located in Kokomo. Hence the phrase, "Were you ever in Kokomo?"

Conscience is that wee, sma' voice which lets you know that you have been found out.

But think of the fellow who has not conscience!

Consider Indian summer for a brief space. It's best to get right about this I. S. business now. There will be none. Yes, true enough, we predict there would be some hazy, lazy, dazy days in November, but that's why there isn't. There are no soft spots in November. It's all one big four-flush with an intimation in the morning, a threat at noon and a subterfuge at night. It really should be taken from the calendar and just as soon as we get rid of several petty and trivial matters which are bothering us now, such as the Democratic legislature, we will take up the case of November. Until then let it alone and forget the idle dream about Indian summer. You probably don't deserve it anyway. Few do.

ROUGH SCALY SKIN

Little Patches That Peel off and Form Again.
Try This Remedy at Our Risk.

Most skin diseases are eruptions accompanied by itching. But there is another kind in which small patches of scales appear and fall off, followed by another crop. This may spread all over the body and become almost incurable.

A soothing application of Saxon Salve, our new skin remedy, should be made. This is very healing and penetrates through the outer layer of skin to the very seat of the trouble, destroying the germs.

Treated in this way, as directed by the book in the box, the scaly patches disappear and are replaced by smooth, healthy skin. Saxon Salve is wonderfully healing and soothing in all forms of skin disease, eczema, barber's itch, ringworm, etc., and we guarantee it to satisfy you, paying back your money if it does not. F. B. TAFT'S FRIENDS ARE MOURNING

They Are Sorry He Didn't Keep Out of Fight.

THE RESULT IN CINCINNATI

Washington View of the Overthrow of the Only Ticket For Which Mr. Taft Made a Personal Appeal Is That the President's Weakness at Home Has Been Called Conspicuously to Country's Attention.

Washington, Nov. 9.—Out of Tuesday's elections Republicans in Washington profess to be able to extract a little comfort. On the whole the party, they declared, had made an encouraging start on recovery from the slump which carried it down ignominiously in the last campaign.

So far as President Taft is personally concerned, however, Republicans at the national capital could not see that he had added anything to his prestige through the results. As a matter of fact the president's own friends were somewhat depressed by the outcome and acknowledge that Tuesday's balloting made it look as if the Republican party was stronger than the president himself.

The results in Ohio were particularly disappointing to Mr. Taft's supporters. They were complaining that the president had committed another big political blunder in tying himself to Boss Cox's ticket in Cincinnati, and that the defeat of that ticket by the Democrats had gone far to diminish any satisfaction the president himself might have obtained from Republican gains in other parts of the country.

The Cincinnati blunder is regarded here as another instance of the president being overwhelmed by his friends. The president wanted to be accommodating and yielded to the coaxing of several Cincinnatians to endorse the ticket involving the Republican organization of that city, which only a few years before Mr. Taft had denounced so bitterly in his Akron speech. The president has since explained that he knew the Republican candidates this year personally and that the situation was entirely different from the one that was denounced by him when he attacked Boss Cox in 1905.

The president's friends are pointing out that he had attempted in the past to adhere to a rule of non-interference in municipal and state elections, and now they are mourning that he departed from this principle.

The effect of the results in Cincinnati and other Ohio cities as viewed in Washington has been to prove the weakness of President Taft in his own state. In the case of the Cincinnati defeat the country will be impressed with the fact that Mr. Taft was repudiated in the only instance in which he made a personal appeal in this campaign, while there were good Republican gains in other quarters.

As viewed by Democrats and Republicans at the national capital the returns have given a decided impetus to the Judson Harmon boom for president and a corresponding setback to Woodrow Wilson's chances, the New Jersey governor having lost the legislature in his state.

Normally Cincinnati, Cleveland and Columbus are reliably Republican, but the Democratic victory Tuesday is taken as evidence of Governor Harmon's struggle in his own state.

Mrs. Vermilya Again Ill.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Mrs. Louise Vermilya, accused of murdering Police-man Bissonette, again is seriously ill. The police department and coroner's office are engaged in working out the details of the Vermilya case and in attempting to weave together the web of evidence with which they expect to surround the woman.

Voted on Commission Form.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 9.—Two cities in Kentucky, Lexington and Paducah, voted on the commission form of government Tuesday. It was adopted by Lexington by a big majority, while the citizens of Paducah defeated it overwhelmingly.

DAVIE GOT OFF WITH FIVE YEAR SENTENCE

"Boy Broker" Pleaded Guilty to Embezzlement.

Boston, Nov. 9.—The "boy broker," Robert E. Davie, who fled to South America and was brought back here to face charges of embezzlement, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to prison for five years.

Davie's total peculations, according to his victims, aggregated between $300,000 and $500,000.

Davie is a native of Lafayette, Ind. His career on "the street" was meteoric. At sixteen years of age he was in the real estate business on his own account, and four years later he appeared as a full-fledged stock broker. It was said that his comparatively light sentence was due to the fact that he had made settlements with many of his creditors.

FERNANDO JONES

Chicago's Oldest Citizen Dead at the Age of Ninety-One.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Fernando Jones is dead at his home, 1834 Prairie avenue. He was Chicago's oldest inhabitant and for years the most picturesque old man among the survivors of the city's pioneer days.

Although ninety-one years old, the vigorous man, who as a youth of fifteen ventured into the Indian infested region that is now Chicago, did not confess defeat in his struggle against advancing age until Tuesday. Then he gave in on advice of physicians and attendants, and went to bed, where he stayed for the twenty-four hours until death released him.

The Deadly Live Wire.

Dunkirk, Ind., Nov. 9.—Charles Michaels, a traction line employe, was instantly killed when a pipe he was carrying came in contact with a high tension wire at a substation.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

The Portuguese cabinet has again resigned.

William Clark Russell, the writer of stories of the sea, is dead in London. Mr. Russell was born in New York in 1844.

Edna Hoff, the American opera-singer, was run down by an automobile in London. Her arm was broken and she was badly cut.

At Los Angeles 66,488 women have so far registered for the coming city election, most of whom asked to be reported as Socialists.

Demarchus C. Brown, state librarian, was elected president of the Indiana Library association at the annual meeting of the association.

Rudolph Blankenburg, independent nominee, was elected mayor of Philadelphia over George H. Earle, jr., organization candidate, by 4,797.

The keel of the Maine may now be traced for its entire length. The engineers expect to be ready for the board of inspection about Nov. 15.

From end to end of the country the Socialist vote showed emphatic gains in Tuesday's election, and Socialist candidates for minor offices were elected in many states.

Indiana Democratic editors have begun a campaign for an early state convention, the last week in February being the time which is meeting with most favor.

Dr. Paul Gans of Berlin plans to cross the Atlantic ocean in a dirigible balloon, starting from Tenerife and landing at Barbadoes, practically the course followed by Columbus.

Ubee, in Huntington county, said to be the smallest incorporated town in Indiana, cast fourteen votes for the one ticket in the field. This is a gain of two votes over the last election.

FALL OF PEKIN IS LOOKED FOR

Invasion of Rebel Forces Is Hourly Expected.

COURT'S FLIGHT IS IMMINENT

The Manchus Are Leaving the Apparently Doomed Capital in Drove and All Is in Readiness For the Departure of the Court—Faithful Manchu Troops Prepared to Protect the Child Emperor to the Bitter End.

Tientsin, Nov. 9.—It is reported that General Yin Chang, the chief of staff under Yuan Shih Kai, has recommended a general massacre of Manchus.

Pekin, Nov. 9.—General anxiety will not abate, though the capital is fairly quiet. The flight of the Manchus continues, while sections of the Manchu guards are constantly leaving for the northward. The departure of the court is hourly expected.

There are innumerable rumors of the movements of Chinese troops around the capital, reported to be concentrating at the direction of the revolutionary leaders. The advance guard of the Lanchow army has not advanced on Fengtai, whither Chang Shao Sen is reported to be bringing the remainder of the troops. It is said that the court intended to send the Tientsin railroad beyond Fengtai and prevent the approach, but Sir John Jordan, the British minister, protested on the ground that Great Britain was empowered, under agreements, to operate the line if traffic were stopped. The scheme consequently was abandoned.

The rebels are reported to have secured the Kalgan railway and are moving troops thereby in the direction of Peking. The imperial troops at Hankow are cut from Peking owing to the fact that the rebels control the road to Chentingfu. It is estimated that 18,000 Manchu troops are within Peking upon which the throne may rely. Besides there are 9,000 police.

The revolution spreads apace in the provinces which hitherto have not seceded. Nanking has surrendered after a brief resistance, the viceroy having received orders from the government to yield.

COMPARATIVE FIGURES

Census Returns on the White and Colored Population.

Washington, Nov. 9.—The director of the census has issued a preliminary statement of the white and negro population of continental United States, as shown by the returns of the recent census. According to these returns the population of continental United States (that is, excluding Alaska, Porto Rico and other outlying possessions), which was 91,972,266 in 1910, is subdivided as to color, as follows: White, 81,732,687, or 88.9 per cent; negro, 9,828,294, or 10.7 per cent; all other persons (Indians, Chinese, Japanese, etc.), 411,285, or 0.4 per cent.

At each succeeding federal census the white population has constituted a somewhat larger percentage of the total population, with a corresponding decrease in the percentage for the negro population. The whites now constitute 88.9 per cent of the total population, as compared with 86.5 per cent in 1880, whereas the negroes now constitute only 10.7 per cent of the total population, as compared with 13.1 per cent in 1880.

PROGRESSIVE VICTORY

New Notions Will Be Injected Into Ohio's Constitution.

Toledo, O., Nov. 9.—Revised returns show the elections of Democratic mayors in the big cities of Ohio, repudiation of President Taft's ticket at Cincinnati, the election of Brand Whitlock, independent, mayor of Toledo for the fourth term, the election of Socialist mayors in eleven of the smaller cities and a tremendous increase in the Socialist vote all over the state. Out of a total of ninety-three cities and towns in all parts of the state, complete returns show the election of forty-three Democratic mayors, thirty-six Republicans, eleven Socialists and five independents.

The progressives won a sweeping victory in electing constitutional delegates. Out of 119 delegates elected less than twenty-five are reactionaries. Nearly 100 delegates elected were chosen because they favored the initiative and referendum and many other progressive measures.

A Sortie in Force.

Tripoli, Nov. 9.—A battalion of Italian troops supported by artillery and the guns of the fleet, sallied out of the Hamidieh fort and engaged the Turks, who, after a short resistance, retired. The Turks left sixty dead on the field. The Italians had sixteen wounded.

The will of Edwin Austin Abbey, the American artist who died last August, left the bulk of a large estate to establish a fund to be devoted to the purchase of paintings for the American nation.
